I certify that I have checked the structural design computations and drawings for a new judging tower to be built at Blue Cow ski resort. The tower is composed of 4 off 20ft shipping containers stacked in two levels, being 2 containers (lengthwise) per level. The containers are modified to suit openings and a prefabricated deck at the top and will be supported by 10x  $\phi$  600mm bored piers socketed into rock in accordance with the drawings listed below.

In checking the structural design, I have paid attention to the integrity of the building under an ultimate wind pressure of 1.8kPa to AS1170.2 and snow load to AS1170.3. The strength requirements and serviceability requirements of the building and its structural elements comply with the Building Code of Australia and all relevant Australian Standards.

This certificate applies to the following drawings:
