Statement of significance: This church, as well as being the centre of the Anglican congregation of the Narraburra area of the Temora Shire, is also the only memorial in Narraburra to the men who represented that district in war. The church remains open and active, services having been held there continuously since its inception.

Historical notes of provenance: This Anglican Church was established by the people of the Narraburra district of the Temora Shire as a War Memorial Church. Inside, affixed to the wall, is the original Roll of Honour to the local men who served in the Great War. The roof was replaced in recent years.
