Urbanline Millboard Decking is an innovative and revolutionary composite decking solution that looks so convincing, you'll struggle to believe that it's not real wood – until you enjoy years of virtually maintenance free use. Made from a unique blend of natural minerals, bonded with a polymer resin, Millboard is one of the most stable, durable and low-maintenance composite decking solutions on the market today.

2. concrete: off form

feature walls

Off-form refers to concrete cast against formwork. The finished product takes on the texture of the board it is cast against. For instance a concrete panel cast on woodgrain will have a woodgrain texture. At Concrete Blonde we cast face down on smooth mid sheen boards. The vibration and compaction process settles the aggregates (stones) flat into the face of the piece with a thin skin of cement covering them. When finished the surface, though completely smooth, shows the ghostings of the aggregates within. This tends to give the piece an enormous amount of life and movement (and abrasive resistance).
