Land Use and Density Distribution Plan

Disclaimer: The urban concept described in the illustrative masterplan is a preliminary plan based on information leading to the 2010 Development Control Plan. It is acknowledged that the concept may change in future due to altering economic circumstances, market conditions, detailed design responses, approvals and as yet unknown factors. The subdivision design at this early stage has not been surveyed to an accuracy required for development approval, the assumptions are based on average lot sizes to meet the current market.
